

Massage/Healing Wands

Crystal wands can be displayed for their inherent beauty or used for massage. Massaging with these wands is believed to transmit their powers into desired parts of the body. Crystal Massage Wands are available to you in many colors and stone types. Generally, in modern language, wands are ceremonial and/or have associations with magic but there have been other uses, all stemming from the original meaning as a synonym of rod and virge, both of which had a similar development. Massaging using crystal wands can help you unwind and alleviate stress and pain. It is also very good for skin and muscles. Wands can be used to massage painful parts of the body (Muscles) or the Aura around the body. (Larger Tumble Stones can also be used for massaging.) To massage - Use gentle pressure, massage in a circular motion on the skin. Or for Aura massage, work a few inches above the body.

Amethyst is a member of the quartz family and considered a master healer. It is believed to boost the immune system, allowing the body to heal and relieving pain. In crystal lore, amethyst is an extremely soothing stone, good for psychic and spiritual development. It is said to be good for the bereaved, bringing comfort and peace. Amethyst has a wonderful purple that ranges from pale lavender through to deep wine tones. It is aligned with the water signs of the zodiac and makes a wonderful gift for anyone who loves crystals.

Canadian jade has a beautiful range of warm green tones, with a soft marbled texture. This jade massage wand has been skillfully shaped from Canadian jade selected for its rich color, then polished to bring out its color.

Jade has been considered a "good luck" stone for thousands of years and prized by Chinese culture since at least 1950 BC. It is believed to heal and soothe, particularly helping the kidneys and renal system. It's beautiful color has made it eternally popular for jewelry, ornamentation and stone carving.

Fluorite is believed to be a powerful healing stone that brings order to chaos. It displays a wonderful range of color. Rainbow fluorite can include greens, blues and green ranging from delicate shades to deep tones, interspersed with areas of clear transparency. Fluorite is thought to keep the aura clear and makes a wonderful piece for any situation.

Blue goldstone contains copper particles that sparkle in sunlight. The amount of 'glitter' depends on the percentage of copper included. This copper is perfect for massage, being traditionally used to bring warming pain relief. Blue goldstone is said to aid communication and astral travel and makes a great addition to your crystal collection. This wand would be great not only for massage but as an aid to meditation and deep thought.

Green goldstone is believed to support, particularly the heart. It is traditionally a balancing stone for the body and mind. Its unique, glittering forest green makes an attractive gift. Like all goldstones, green goldstone is sprinkled with copper. Copper is believed to bring warming pain relief, especially for arthritic and deep muscle pain.

Undyed howlite has a beautiful marbling of grey and white tones. Howlite is believed to be extremely cleansing and symbolizes purity. It is said to clear the mind, allowing new ideas to surface and develop. Using a howlite wand may help to cleanse the aura and purify the aura.

In traditional crystal lore, Green Moss Agate is balancing, calming and detoxifying. It is said to be a powerful healing and pain relieving stone. Unleash these attributes by massaging areas affected by pain, stress or energy blockage. This agate is aligned with the zodiac sign Gemini and the heart chakra, Anahata. This is a seat of healing and love. Moss Agate is known for its warm green color.

New jade has a light refreshing color that encompasses spring greens and buttery tones. This cleansing palette is echoed in its purported detoxifying power. It is said to be a very gentle purifier that alleviates pain. It is also believed to heal illness brought through from a past life.

Snowflake obsidian is perfectly suited to maximize the benefits massage. It is believed to be good for the skin and veins, particularly for improving the circulation. Applying snowflake obsidian directly to the skin, massage wands are a relaxing way to access these qualities. All obsidians have a deep glossy black, but snowflake obsidian has a delicate pattern of grey feldspar that resembles snowflakes or flowers.

Rhodonite is said to encourage mutual understanding. It is believed to strengthen relationships and bring constructive solutions to conflict. Rhodonite has a wonderful range of pink and red tones that lift the spirit.

Sodalite is said to be good for communication and balances intellect with intuition. It is believed to enhance meditation. Massaging with crystals is believed to impart their properties, as well as bring the deep relaxation of all massage. Sodalite is believed to clear electromagnetic pollution, which would make massage especially relaxing for those working with computers. Sodalite is also said to help us to accept who we are and to remain true to ourselves.

Unikite contains pink feldspar, green epidote and quartz. This gives a beautiful color range, encompassing rose pink, apple green and hints of gold. As a crystal unikite is said to be cleansing, balancing and detoxifying. It associated with fertility and is believed to support a healthy pregnancy.

Green aventurine is believed to enhance self esteem, creating a sense of harmony and balance. Aventurine displays a soft aqua green that echoes its attributes.

Calcite is said to be good for speeding up development on both a physical and spiritual level. A massage wand is a simple way to bring calcite into contact with the body, transmitting this power directly. Like many other polished crystals, calcite has a wonderfully smooth texture that makes it soothing on the skin and easy to manipulate. Calcite has a delicate milky translucence that lifts any space.

Carnelian has a beautiful range of orange and red tones that echo its character. Carnelian is said to be fiery and passionate for a warming deep massage. It is believed to bestow courage, lift the emotions, and be good for the libido. Carnelian has historically been used as a stone of protection and it is grounding, especially in the here and now, and has historically been used as a stone of protection.

Quartz is said to have a cleansing healing energy for the mind and body. It is traditionally used to enhance and transmit energy, perfect for a meditative crystal healing massage. Between a healer and client, this wand is believed to form a direct energy channel.

Goldstone is associated with wealth and plentiful blessings.

Hematite is said to encourage the ability to survive. It has been used to protect, said to strengthen the will for an energizing massage. Hematite has a highly reflective shine and acts to ward off negative energies by grounding them.

Picasso jasper is considered detoxifying. This cleansing is said to extend to psychic vision and reveal the root cause of an illness. It is believed to support a healthy pregnancy and is often recommended for expectant women. Crystal lore holds that direct skin contact enhances the power of a crystal. This is a great gift for mothers-to-be or those looking to simply detoxify their life.

Red jasper is believed to give a gently dynamic energy. Its passionate nature is said to enhance the libido and reawaken the body. Occasionally it contains veins of hematite which grounds it further. Red jasper is also believed to bring problems to light before they get out of hand and help in dream recall.

Mookaite is believed to stabilize health and strengthen the immune system. Aboriginal culture has long used it as a healing stone, making for a restorative massage. Mookaite is also said to simultaneously bring inner calm and a thirst for adventure, balancing external excitement with our mental processes. This character makes it perfect for a deeply healing massage wand. Mookaite displays a wonderful depth of golden color and makes a wonderful addition to your life.

Obsidian is believed to protect, grounding our higher selves. It is said to disperse unhealthy energy and can help to banish fear and break behavior patterns. The mirror surface of obsidian means that it is often used for introspective work, allowing us to accept our true nature. It has historically been used for scrying and divination.

Rose quartz is associated with romantic love and is said to attract care and affection to those who use it. It is believed to promote self-acceptance and understanding. Rose quartz is purportedly supportive to the recently bereaved or broken hearted.

Tiger Eye promotes creativity, ambition and dynamic energy, can be used to combat depression. Helps to align the Yin and Yang.

Labradorite also known as Dragon's Eye, Elevates consciousness and connection with the universe.

Lepidolite a stone of transition and change assists reconstruction of old patterns allowing for a smooth transition during the change, alleviates stress and depression, used in Reiki to promote the transfer of energy to the area of need.

Smokey Quartz if used properly, it destroys negative energy, increases creativity. Good for people with radiation related illnesses and those on chemotherapy. Known as a Good Luck talisman, said to protect those going into combat, sporting or war, gives energy and stamina, heightening survival instincts, increases fertility and sexual energy, and strengthens the adrenal glands, kidneys, pancreas and helps in the assimilation of proteins.

Ruby in Zoisite, also known as Anyolite, activates the crown chakra, creates an altered state of consciousness and facilitates access to soul memory and spiritual learning. It can be extremely helpful in soul healing and in past life work. This stone has the unusual property of promoting individuality while at the same time retaining interconnectedness with the rest of humanity. It powerfully amplifies the biomagnetic field around the human body.

Fluorite aids the Psyche by removing Psychic clutter by giving direction and strength. Helps with Aura determination, absorbs and alters all energies, strengthens bones and teeth, it is beneficial to blood vessels and spleen, used in all chakras.

Moonstone is a good meditative aid, acts as a mediator between mind and emotions. Helps to soothe and balance emotions, a great aid to macho personalities balancing and sensitizing, calms and directs. Aid to prophecy and clairvoyance, used for all female problems, particularly pre-menstrual tension, reduces excess body fluids, and aids stomach, spleen, pancreas, and pituitary glands.

Lapis Lazuli amplifies thought helping to open the third eye, aligns the etheric, mental and spiritual entities enhancing attunement. Aids with asthma, eye problems, anxiety and sleep, works well for Aquarians helping to maintain direction, activates the thyroid and strengthens the skeletal system.

Selenite calms and clears the mind, used in meditation as a focal point. The record storage for the environment, growth lines indicate environmental changes. Helps to clarify inner thoughts, expands one's mental powers, said to be one of the most powerful healers because of this. Due to tremendous energies involved all caution should be used, an expert crystal therapist should be called on to use this stone. It has a very directional energy flow so it is the perfect stone for energy transference.

Chakra wand has a clear quartz shaft ending in a natural six sided quartz crystal. At its crown is a graceful clasped crystal ball. The wand can be used for aligning the chakras, meditation and all kinds of chakra healing. It is set with stones associated the crown and root chakra, known as Sahasrara and Muladhara respectively. These two chakras are seats of spiritual potential and higher consciousness and frame the seven standard chakras.