

OILS, HERBS & AFFIRMATIONS

These things are going to depend on what it is you are looking to achieve. For example, if you are looking to promote prosperity, you know you're up for a pay raise at your job and you could use the extra cash for your savings, you may choose to use a green candle paired with Bay Leaf and cinnamon oil. If you wanted to you could also set up some Iron Pyrite or Aventurine near or in the candle. Make sure to research these items and properly pair them with your candle and intentions.

Affirmations are a little more personal. Some votives (like the Reiki charged votives we sell) come with little affirmations. If you are unsure what to use as an affirmation you can always look at the ones we sell to get an idea or two, even if you aren't using those candles. To continue our example for prosperity you may use an affirmation such as "Please bring to me blessings of prosperity and wealth." all while envisioning yourself receiving that big promotion at work. You can write this down or keep it in your mind, either way you will need an affirmation/intention.

Remember, this is all a very personal process. You can adjust anything you need to during this process, but this is the basic foundation for Candle Magic. We hope you go forward with this information and expand your magical toolbox.

SUGGESTED READINGS

Candle Magic for Beginners
by: Richard Webster

Advanced Candle Magick
by: Ray Buckland

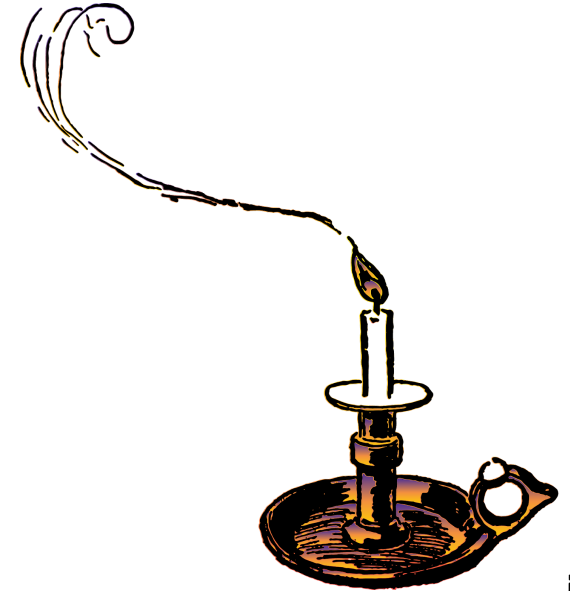

Magical Candle Crafting
by: Ember Grant

*Ask about our Artist Made Prefixed Candles
by Athena Silver*

This pamphlet was made by NUTZ employees. The information was gathered through experience with various magical practitioners and exposure to the magical world throughout the years. Information in this pamphlet is to be used to guide you through your own spiritual and magical journey. Remember, there is no wrong way, if you feel like something isn't working for you experiment with it and mold it to your own personal practices. Magic is meant to be a personal journey between the practitioner, their spiritual beliefs and the world around them. If it isn't resonating with you don't force it, reevaluate and try again.

-NUTZ

Candle Magic

A basic introduction to how you can use candles to help manifest and achieve goals.

FREE

WHAT IS CANDLE MAGIC?

Candle Magic is one of the easiest ways to wet your feet in the magical world. The most basic candle magic requires just a couple of items; a candle, a way to light it and a dream (more on this later). If you have ever been to a Christian church where you light a candle and say a prayer you have encountered candle magic. The basic concept is to set your intention and light the candle so it can burn in its entirety.

Candles come in so many shapes and sizes and you may be thinking, "What kind of candles can I use?" Honestly any old candle will do. Just make sure it is unused and you're good to go. Some people use chime/mood candles, some use votives and others even venture into shaped pieces specifically designed to help increase the powers of manifestation. As you progress in your journey with candles you will find what works best for you.

The only other thing to consider when practicing Candle Magic is color. Color plays a huge roll in how things will manifest. Based on color magic and color theory each color will assist your goals and give that extra boost of energy in your manifestation process.

Keep in mind, there is much more to Candle Magic than this guide. So keep learning and doing your own research.

COLORS & THEIR MEANINGS

Red - Love, passion, relationships, sensuality

Orange - Joy, energy, stimulator

Yellow - Confidence, manifestation, clarity

Green - Prosperity, luck, growth, health

Light Blue - Communication, forgiveness

Dark Blue - Meditation, inspiration, happiness

Purple - Tranquility, wisdom, intuition

Pink - Friendship, harmony, positive self love

Off White - Motivation, luxury, Full Moon work

White - Cleanses, purity, peace, truth

Black - Protection, grounding, absorbs negative energy

Brown - Problem solving, stability, balance

Silver - Lunar energy, femininity, aids psychic development

Gold - Solar energy, masculinity, fortune, spirituality

PREPARATION

So you've picked out some candles and you have a goal in mind. What should you do next? Well, we suggest prepping your space and making sure it is free of any physical and energetic clutter. Manifestation is easier to do when your physical space and your head space is free of anything that may distract or hinder the process. Gather any supplies you will need and have them readily available wherever you will be placing the candle. Once that's taken care of you want to begin envisioning your goals and prepare your candle while keeping these intentions in your mind. At this point you can:

- Anoint your candle with any herbs, oils or crystals
- Carve any relevant symbols, names or words into the wax
- Properly place your candle in/on a fire safe dish
- Light it and keep an eye on it all while keeping your mind focused on your goal.

You will want the entirety of the candle to burn for it to be most effective. So if you are in a time crunch it is best to wait until you have the proper amount of time to finish the process. Pick a candle that is appropriate for the time you have allotted.

